Things You Need (Babies):

- A water beaker to keep at nursery (preferably one that your child can open)
- A big bag full of old named spare clothes (A few pairs of socks, a couple of vests, tops, jumpers, and trousers/shorts).
- Nappy cream to stay at nursery (not Weleda or Bepanthen as these contain nuts. We provide nappies and wipes, unless you request otherwise).
- If your child has a dummy, you can give one to us to keep at nursery or you can bring it in their bag each day.
- If your child has bottles of milk, please could we have them to keep at nursery so that we can sterilise them.
    - If your child drinks formula milk, we provide this until your child is 1 year old, then you would need to provide this.
- Named wellies to stay at nursery (if your child can walk)
    - If your child cannot walk yet but is cruising, we recommend beach shoes or waterproof baby booties so that the ground does not hurt your child's feet and they stay warm.
- Named double socks are a must with normal wellies as these are not very warm in winter. Waterproof snow boots, fleece lined or neoprene-lined wellies are great and a size bigger is better. (warmwellies.co.uk)
- For the summer, please could you provide a named sun hat. (We provide sun cream, unless you request otherwise).
- For the winter, please could you provide named coat/hat/mittens/snood.

- Lots of named layers are best - you can pick up child thermal layers from Tesco and even Primark have some great fluffy leggings and T-shirts. Lots of spare layers would be fantastic.
- Waterproofs are a must and two sets are even better during winter and wetter months.
  Regatta suits say they are waterproof but they are not waterproof enough for nursery outdoor activities.
  We have found that the rubbery textured (PU coating) waterproof dungarees and coats are fantastic. You can find these in Aldi and Lidl in their special buys. Frugi and Dry kids are another fantastic make (you can usually find on Vinted cheaply) a size bigger is better.

When washing waterproofs it's important not to use conditioner or softener as it takes the waterproofing off.
